

Sisters, Ink

A Novel
by Rebeca Seitz

ABOUT THE BOOK

Sisters, Ink marks the first in a series of novels written by, for, and about scrapbookers. At the center of the creativity and humor are four unlikely young adult sisters, each separately adopted during early childhood into the loving home of Marilyn and Jack Sinclair.

Ten years after their mother Marilyn has died, the multi-racial Sinclair sisters (Meg, Kendra, Tandy, and Joy) still return to her converted attic scrapping studio in the small town of Stars Hill, Tennessee, to encourage each other through life's highs and lows.

Book one spotlights headstrong Tandy, a successful yet haunted attorney now living back in Orlando where she spent the first eight years of her life on the streets as a junkie's kid. When a suddenly enforced leave of absence at work leads her to an extended visit with her sisters in Stars Hill, a business opportunity, rekindled romance, and fresh understanding of God's will soon follow.

BEST-SELLING POINTS

- Sisters, Ink begins a novel series aimed at the scrapbooking audience, centering on four unlikely sisters whose creative outlet doubles as therapy, family time, and much more.
- Scrapbooking is a $3.9 billion industry in America. Seitz is scheduled to appear at eight scrapbooking conventions during fall 2007, pre-promoting Sisters, Ink directly to more than 27,000 scrapbookers.
- Reviewing Prints Charming, Seitz's 2007 debut, Library Journal wrote, "This first novel is a pleasure to read . . . Recommended for women's fiction collections."
- Major awareness campaign with targeted marketing efforts to scrapbooking print media, Web sites, retail stores, and more.
