A cord of three strands is not easily broken. Ecclesiastes 4:12 (HCSB)

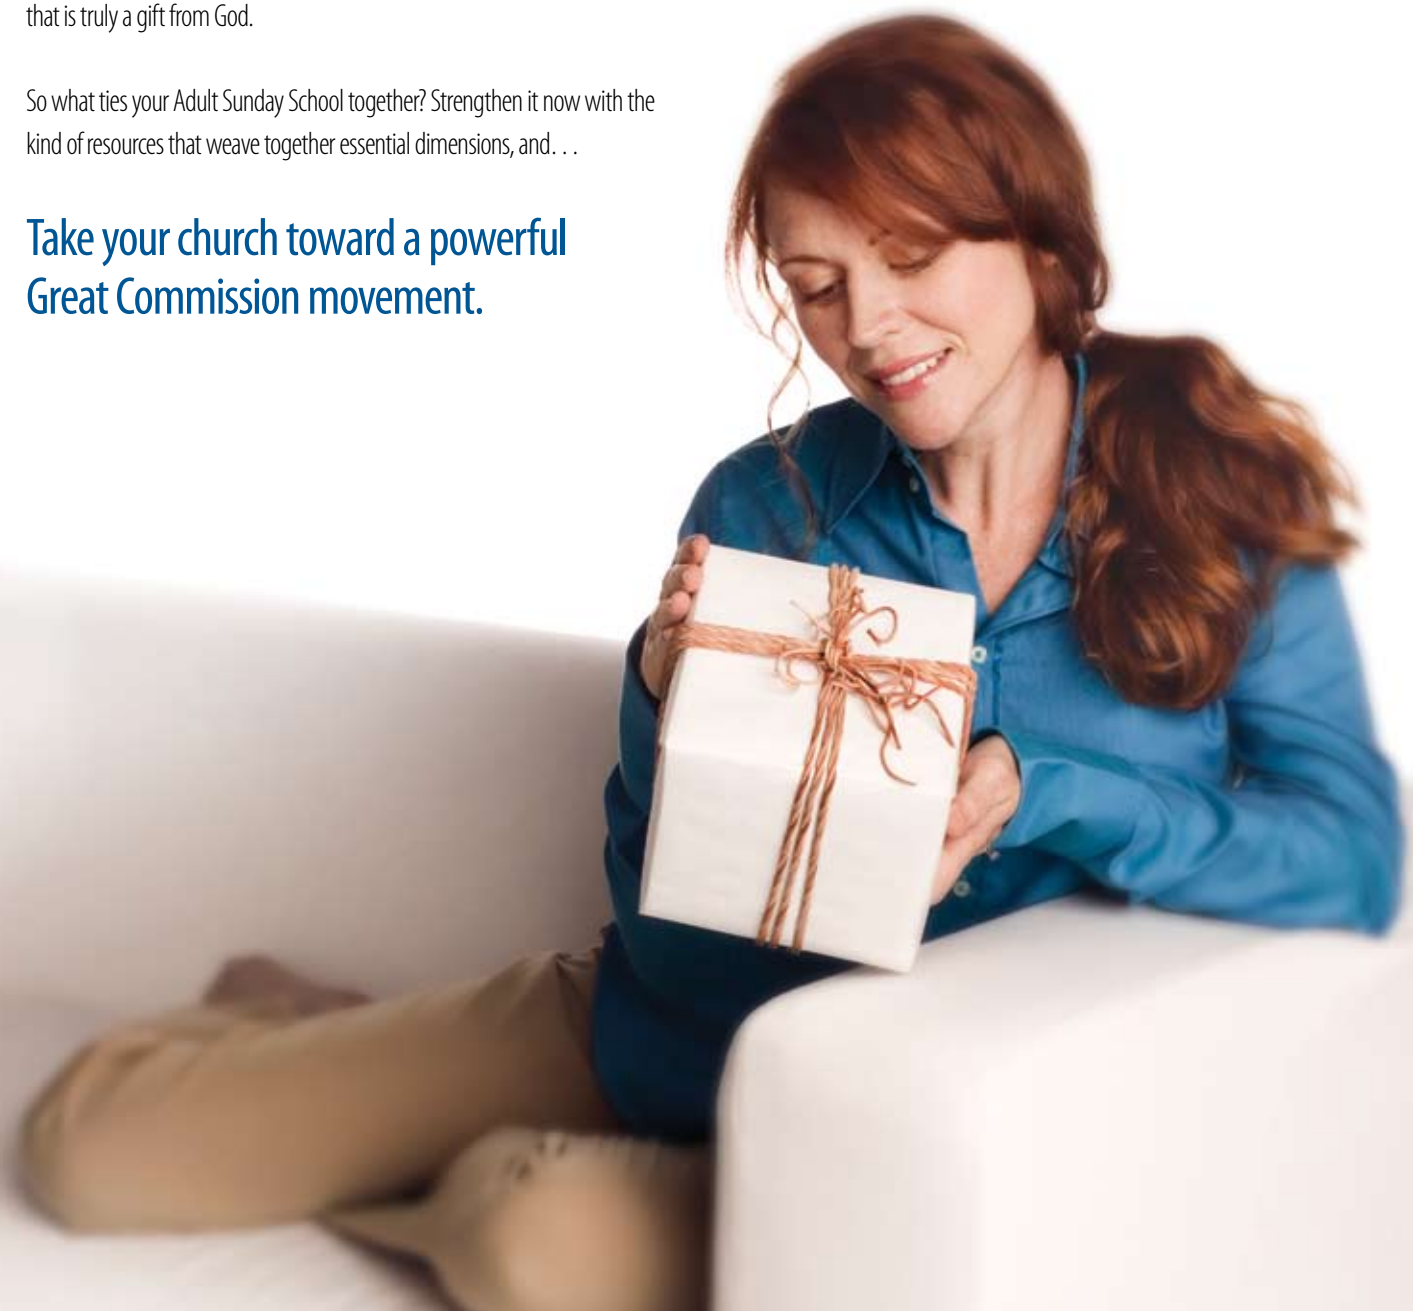

INVITE. DISCOVER. CONNECT.

The three dimensions of a balanced Sunday School—invite, discover, and connect—are much like strands of string securing a package. Separately they can only do so much. But put them together, and they will benefit from each other's strength, and become more powerful as a whole.

The result is a well-balanced ministry achieving a means of outreach, an environment for spiritual growth, and a network of support and encouragement—the kind of ministry that is truly a gift from God.

So what ties your Adult Sunday School together? Strengthen it now with the kind of resources that weave together essential dimensions, and . . .

Take your church toward a powerful
Great Commission movement.

Bible Studies for Life

The Bible Studies for Life is a unique series that offers relevant Bible study that helps adults apply biblical knowledge to life by developing godly values and encouraging Christlike living. It provides life stage-focused resources to help organize classes and departments for assimilating new members and new believers through open Bible study groups.

Bible Studies for Life resources are designed for young married couples, parents, empty nesters, and retired adults. This curriculum also offers materials for all-adult classes using the KJV or the HCSB® translation. Other features include new studies with relevant topics each quarter, easy-to-order learner and leader materials, Learner Guides for in-class and at-home learning, and a great selection of support resources that help leaders teach with confidence. For life-stage teaching, Bible Studies for Life is a must for your Sunday School!

The Bible Studies for Life series is replacing the Family Bible Study series.

Life Answers

Relevant for Young Married Adults

At a time when they're making major life decisions, like developing relationships with a spouse, starting a family, and beginning a career, young married adults need answers. This resource creates a dynamic small-group experience to help adults discover God's Word and will for themselves. This Bible study is:

- Designed to appeal to younger, married adults (including parents of preschoolers)
- Relevant to the issues and struggles facing this generation
- Personal Bible study that encourages spiritual growth
- Enhanced with teaching application ideas for each study

1 Life Answers, Leader Guide

The goal of the Leader Guide is to help teachers effectively guide young adults in God-inspired Bible study that results in the development of godly values, increased Bible knowledge, and a life of Christlike excellence. This resource features in-depth commentary, teaching plans, articles related to life issues, and ministry helps. A step-by-step Ministry Plan Preparation Sheet is provided with creative methods to present and facilitate the lesson. You'll also find:

- Articles that improve and develop leadership skills
- In-depth Bible commentary for digging deeper
- Three teaching plans for various teaching styles
- Interactive discussion questions that encourage class participation

Order one per teacher, plus extra copies for substitutes

$4.75 per copy, per quarter

2 Life Answers, Learner Guide

The focus of the Learner Guide is to invite young married adults into a Spirit-empowered, life-changing Bible study and to lead them to be, know, and do all God desires for them. This resource contains conversational commentary designed to engage young married adults. Each lesson is supplemented by weekly devotional activities and articles. Included are:

- Personal stories, interviews, and statistics of interests
- Interactive questions for discussion and personal application
- Word studies that offer a deeper understanding of each study
- Focal Scripture verses and Bible commentary
- Lessons for personal Bible study as well as in-class sessions

3 Explore the Bible, Leader QuickSource

With the ease-of-use and effectiveness of its Bible Studies for Life counterpart, ETB Leader QuickSource provides a quick-preparation approach to studies found in the Explore the Bible series. QuickSource is actually three resources in one. For teachers who prefer a discussion approach, a "Discussion Plan" provides two pages of questions and related content points. A one-page "Parable Plan" allows you to use everyday household objects to teach as Jesus taught. The "Key Words" page defines and highlights key words and phrases found in each study. A great resource to keep on hand for last-minute substitute teachers.

QuickSource is perfect for when:

- You need a one-page plan of action
- You want a reference guide to define key words
- You want good discussion questions
- You need illustrations and objects
- You need a resource for a substitute
- You're helping a new teacher

Essential Messages from God's Servants

Designed for adults who prefer deeper spiritual insight and daily personal study. Join revered authors such as John MacArthur, Tony Evans, Gary Chapman, and others as they guide adults through Bible-based, life-applicable lessons from God's Word. These interactive studies are based on content from a variety of renowned authors' works, and offer pertinent, practical messages that adults will find uplifting and enriching.

MasterWork Leader/Learner Guide

What makes MasterWork so appealing? It's easy to lead! Both leader and learner read the same Scripture, study the same lesson, and answer the same discussion questions. Then, when they come together, the teacher functions more as a group facilitator, setting the pace and guiding students through a lively and spirited in-class session. This resource features:

- Short daily studies that help both leader and learner prepare for each week's session
- Interactive learning activities that help draw points of application to reader's lives
- A two-page teaching plan which follows each week's lesson
- Articles found on Biblical Illustrator Plus that offer additional insight into each session

Bible Study that Builds Christian Community

Ideal for large, established adult groups

If community is defined as “a unified body of individuals,” then building Christian communities on God’s Word is what Life Connections is all about. Designed for groups of 15 to 50 people, this resource divides participants into subgroups of six to eight for small-group interaction in the context of a master-teacher approach. The mission of each small-group, or community, is to create a new community by growing and continuing to subdivide.

This relationship-oriented resource offers many study options each quarter—ten to be exact! What’s more, each topical study contains 13 sessions and can be used in any sequence either on Sunday mornings or in other Bible study settings.

Life Connections, Leader Book

This series provides a wonderful opportunity to build spiritual leaders within the church. Using a master-teacher format, facilitators enlist others to lead small groups that continue to subdivide, creating more leaders. The NIV-based Leader Book contains directions in the margin with page numbers where the material can be found in the Student Book. Included are:

- Suggested transitional statements that help move teachers easily from one section of the study to the next
- Focal Scripture passages for each study for ease of use
- Handy “notes” boxes on which to write pertinent information
- Underlined answers to questions revealed during the master-teacher time
- Horseshoe icons that are used to designate each subgroup time

$13.95 per book, per quarter

Life Connections, Student Book

The Life Connections Student Book is designed to develop Christians on their journey from the “seeker” to the “disciple maker” stage. Each Student Book has 13 sessions and reflects different life-issue questions and topics for personal growth. Daily Scripture readings and reflective questions help participants prepare for the group session. You’ll discover:

- Fun icebreaker activities that prepare the group for meaningful discussion
- Built-in prayer time that helps members connect
- Reference notes which help new students “catch up” while providing background information useful to both learner and leader
- Multiple-choice questions to help those new to the Christian community
